Logistics and Transportation LL.M. and Certificate Programs

This program is designed for two different types of students:

- Masters in Law (LLM) (24 credits): Those with a J.D. degree from either a U.S. law school or a law school outside of the U.S. who are interested in obtaining an LL.M. degree in Logistics and Transportation Law. Note: These students will be awarded a Certificate in Transportation and Logistics Regulation after completing 12 credits.

- Certificate in Transportation Regulation (Certificate Program)(12 credits): Those who have a Bachelor’s Degree, a Certificate in Transportation and Logistics issued by the American Society for Transportation and Logistics (ASTL)(or significant work experience in the logistics and transportation field) who are interested in obtaining a Certificate in Transportation Regulation.

There are five terms a year and we offer rolling admissions. Students may matriculate into the program in any one of the five terms.

Application Instructions

1. Print and complete this application, scan it and email it to ncarlucci@fcsl.edu or you can mail the application to Nicole Carlucci, LL.M. Admissions Counselor, Florida Coastal School of Law, 8787 Baypine Rd, Jacksonville, FL 32256.
2. Include with the application a copy of the undergraduate or law school transcript from your most recent degree, along with a resume of your professional qualifications.
3. Students who were not educated in a country where English is not an official language, and for whom English is a second language, must also include either a TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) or IELTS (International English Language Testing System) score.

Tuition

The tuition for both the LL.M. and Certificate programs is $600 per credit hour.

About the Program

The Logistics and Transportation Program is an entirely online program. The courses will be offered in an asynchronous format meaning that students may log in to the course at their convenience to access materials, listen to lectures, take tests, complete assignments and interact with the professor and other students in chat rooms or discussion boards. In addition to the flexibility provided by asynchronous courses, many students enjoy this format because it provides them time to formulate their thoughts or responses without being pressured or overshadowed by others.

Students working towards an LL.M. degree must complete 24 credits and maintain a 2.3 cumulative GPA.

Students working towards a Certificate in Transportation Regulation must complete 12 credits and maintain a 2.3 cumulative GPA.

There are five, seven-week terms followed by a one week exam period each year.

It is recommended that Full-Time (FT) students take four credits each term. A Full-Time student can complete a Certificate in 3 terms (approximately 6 months) and an LL.M in six terms (a little over one year). It is recommended that students who are working in full time jobs take no more than two credits each term.

English Proficiency

Note: The profession of Logistics and Transportation is an international one, and we encourage international students to apply, even if they have limited proficiency in English. It is our philosophy that improvements in technology and communications, including translation programs and other language services, will make language barriers easier to overcome in the future. Our professors are primarily interested in the quality of thought expressed by students for whom English is a second language, and not their ability to express those thoughts in grammatically correct English.

We ask students for whom English is their second language to provide us with some information about their English proficiency so we can judge whether they can fully understand the instruction we provide. If English is your second language, you must submit either a TOEFL or IELTS score unless one of the exceptions below applies:

• You are a graduate of a law school located in a country where English is an official language.
• You are a graduate of an undergraduate or non-law graduate degree program in a country where English is an

Character and Fitness

If your answer to any of the following questions is “yes,” you must submit to the Florida Coastal School of Law a detailed explanation of all incidents and also provide the Florida Coastal School of Law with copies of all official documents (from the university/college and/or court) explaining the final disposition of all proceedings.

If your records have been expunged or sealed pursuant to applicable law, you are not required to answer “yes” with respect to that particular charge. It is your responsibility to know whether your records have been expunged or sealed pursuant to applicable law. If you are unsure whether to answer “yes,” we strongly recommend answering “yes” and fully disclosing all incidents.

In your entire life, have you ever been arrested, detained, restrained, given notice to appear, taken into custody, or accused formally or informally of a violation of law or ordinance? You should disclose each instance even though the charges may have been dismissed, or you were acquitted, adjudication was withheld, or a conviction was reversed, set aside, or vacated.

Please choose one of the following three questions and prepare a response of at least 500 words, but no more than 1000 words, explaining your answer. Your response may be either hand-written or typed. If English is not your first language, you may use a translation program to translate your essay into English.

1. You are the Regional Director of a governmental agency regulating environmental policy, and your agency is preparing an environmental impact statement regarding a dredging project. How you would balance the local environmental impact of the project against the global benefits of increased world trade. Is the environmental cost worth the benefit?

2. You are part of a U.S. delegation sent to Cuba to plan for the reopening of trade between the two nations. Describe the importance of developing a cost-effective means for transporting goods both from Cuba to inland destinations in the U.S. and from the U.S. to inland destinations in Cuba.

3. You are the CEO of a major cruise line and one of your vessels, the Funship Alliance, has suffered an engine room fire which strands 3000 passengers aboard the ship for four days without air conditioning, running water or hot food. Your cruise line ticket provides: “In the event of fire or mechanical breakdown of the vessel, the sole responsibility of Funship Cruise Lines shall be to return the passenger to the port of embarkation. All cruise fares shall be deemed to be earned by the cruise line upon departure from the port of origination, and passengers shall not be entitled to any refund or rebate of the fare in case of interruption or early termination of the voyage, regardless of the cause.” You have decided to both refund to each passenger the full cruise fare and to offer them a full fare ticket on another Funship cruise to be used at a later date. The cost of the refund and free tickets will put your company in financial difficulty for at least the next two years. Write a letter to your shareholders explaining the reasons for your decision.
