

FALL 2013 INTERSESSION
COURSE SCHEDULE

Course	Course Number	Credits	Description/Pre-Requisites	Professor	Meeting Times	Exam	Room Number
2L students wishing to take Intersession courses will take their final exams as scheduled. Deferral of the Baby Bar is available to the extent that the Baby Bar conflicts with Intersession final exams. Deferrals will be available through the academic success department.
Alternative Dispute Resolution	FL-DSRL-317	2	ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION: This course explores non-litigation methods for resolving legal disputes in the context of a lawyer's obligations to serve clients with diligence. Legal theory and practical skills will be incorporated in studying mediation, arbitration and negotiation.	J. Reiber	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9:00 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break) and 1:30 - 4:40 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am- 11:00am	270
Civil Motion Practice	FL-DSRL-324	2	CIVIL MOTION PRACTICE: This skills-based course addresses that aspect of practice that occupies much of a new attorney's attention -- motion practice. Most law school graduates have acquired the building blocks for the practice of law, including a general knowledge of substantive law, the ability to research legal issues, and the ability to write. These building blocks come together in motion practice. This class will address the intricacies of motion practice and cover, among other issues, such matters as memoranda of law in support, reply and sur reply memoranda, the technical rules related to motions, oral argument, motion tactics and strategies, research issues related to motions, discovery motions, ethical issues, appellate court motion practice, and motions in class action litigation. Motions to dismiss, motions for summary judgment and motions in limine will also be addressed in a way that supplements and builds on concepts addressed in Civil Procedure and Pre-Trial Litigation Drafting. Prerequisites: First-year required courses	Oberdorfer	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9:00 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break) and 1:30 - 4:40 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am- 11:00am	420
Criminal Pre-Trial Practice	FL-CRIM-311	2	CRIMINAL PRE-TRIAL PRACTICE: The purpose of this course is to expose students to an aspect of criminal practice that occupies most of the time of most criminal attorneys: pretrial practice. We will work through many of the major aspects of pretrial practice, which may include case intake (witness interviewing, charging decisions), grand jury practice, indictments, arraignments, discovery, pretrial motions, pretrial detention hearings, and plea agreements.	Stinneford	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9:00 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break) and 1:30 - 4:40 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am- 11:00am	565

FALL 2013 INTERSESSION
COURSE SCHEDULE

Course	Course Number	Credits	Description/Pre-Requisites	Professor	Meeting Times	Exam	Room Number
Critical Thinking and Problem Solving for Lawyers	FL-DSRL-603	2	CRITICAL THINKING AND PROBLEM SOLVING FOR LAWYERS: This course will teach students the practical skills of how to analyze, build, and structure arguments, and how to defeat opposing arguments. It will also teach techniques to increase creativity in the context of solving policy problems. Students will be introduced to "advanced learning techniques," which will help them learn quickly and effectively.	Foley	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9:00 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break) and 1:30 - 4:40 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am-11:00am	560
Florida Statutory Interpretation	FL-SPEC-332N	2	FLORIDA STATUTORY INTERPRETATION: This course is designed to make the student familiar with the canons, rules, and mechanisms of statutory interpretation in Florida, and to provide them an opportunity to develop the skill of applying these mechanisms to Florida statutes. The course will address both internal and external sources of statutory interpretation, including: Plain Meaning rules; Construction in Favor of Constitutionality; Canons of Word Association ("Noscitur a sociis" and "Ejusdem Generis", and "Expressio unius est exclusion alterius"; Grammar/ Punctuation Rules: Construction of Statute as a Whole (In Pari Materia), Avoiding Absurd Results and Correcting Scrivener's Errors; Interpretation in Light of Fundamental Values; the Rule of Lenity; interpretation in light of the Common Law; Socio-Economic and Political Context (Policy); Legislative Background; Agency Interpretation; interpretation in light of other statutes and the problem of referendums.	Christopolis	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9:00 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break) and 1:30 - 4:40 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am-11:00am	555
International and Foreign Legal Research	FL-LRWR-301N	1	INTERNATIONAL AND FOREIGN LEGAL RESEARCH: In this course students will learn research methodology, sources and resources for conducting international, foreign and comparative legal research. They will learn how to locate sources in print and electronic formats. This course will cover evaluation of materials and techniques for formulating effective research strategies. Topics will include international law, foreign law, international organizations and more. The students will produce a research guide on an international or comparative law topic and make a brief presentation in class. Prerequisites: Lawyering Practice I & II	Singleton	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am-10:00am	460
Making and Meeting Objections	FL-DSRL-328	1	MAKING AND MEETING OBJECTIONS: This one credit course will provide students with an opportunity to develop skills in making and meeting evidentiary objections through practical experience. Prerequisite: Evidence	Davoli	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am-10:00am	505

Course	Course Number	Credits	Description/Pre-Requisites	Professor	Meeting Times	Exam	Room Number
Securities Regulation	FL-BUSI-315	2	SECURITIES REGULATION: This is a survey course designed to familiarize students with the leading issues in the federal regulation of securities (e.g. stocks, investment contracts, bonds). The course is also designed to prepare students for the cutting edge issues in raising capital for business entities that they are likely to encounter upon entry into the legal profession. Emphasis will be placed on exemptions from the onerous requirements of Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") registration, sometimes costing in excess of a half million dollars in legal, accounting and consulting fees. The primary legal authorities to be analyzed are the federal Securities Acts of 1933 and 1934, the related regulations and SEC rules. Particular attention will be given to cutting edge issues using open platforms and social media to raise capital for for-profit enterprises. These evolving authorities are resident in the Jobs Act of 2012. The SEC rules are in proposed form. But they will be extensively analyzed.	Groves	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9:00 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break) and 1:30 - 4:40 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am- 11:00am	570
Special Topics in Immigration Law: Immigrations Considerations for the Criminal Defense Attorney	FL-INTL-316N	1	IMMIGRATION CONSIDERATIONS FOR THE CRIMINAL DEFENSE ATTORNEY: This course will provide a basic primer for the criminal attorney who represents an alien. The American Bar Association's Standards for Criminal Justice state " defense counsel should determine and advise the defendant sufficiently in advance of the entry of any plea, as to the possible collateral consequences that might ensue from entry of the contemplated plea." Students will learn to identify how small nuances in pleas can make a huge difference as to whether the client faces future deportation because of the arcane and specialized language used in immigration law. Specifically, students will learn to identify the immigration category of the charged crime; spot potential adverse immigration consequences resulting from convictions and "no contest" pleas such as ineligibility for a future visa, "green card", naturalization and deportation and removal; and be prepared with solutions for your client by avoiding a conviction, making a plea that doesn't trigger immigration consequences, as well as how to ameliorate any such consequences. This class is not an "immigration law" class; it is designed to help a criminal attorney effectively defend his clients who happen to be aliens.	Bernadotte	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am- 10:00am	415
What's it Worth? Evaluating and Settling Personal Injury Cases	FL-DSRL-329N	2	WHAT'S IT WORTH? EVALUATING AND SETTLING PERSONAL INJURY CASES: This intercession course will focus on familiarizing the student attorney-to-be with the basics of evaluating, accepting and settling such cases. Because such cases are routinely accepted on a contingency fee basis, it is especially important for the attorney to evaluate both the merits and value of the alleged claim before accepting the case and investing his/her own resources on the matter.	Totty	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9:00 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break) and 1:30 - 4:40 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am- 11:00am	450

FALL 2013 INTERSESSION
COURSE SCHEDULE

Course	Course Number	Credits	Description/Pre-Requisites	Professor	Meeting Times	Exam	Room Number
Wrongful Convictions CANCELLED	FL-CRIM-313	1	WRONGFUL CONVICTIONS: The overall objective of the course is to create an awareness of the magnitude of the problem of wrongful convictions in the U.S., problems that lead to the conviction of the innocent and to explore possible reforms to prevent such. Topics that will be covered include problems in the criminal justice system such as ineffective assistance of counsel, police and prosecutorial misconduct especially in the use of informants, mistakes in eyewitness identification and false confessions. Political, economic, sociological and cultural variables affecting convictions will also be explored.	McCreary	Aug 12-15, M-Th 9 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. (includes 15 minute break)	Friday, August 16, 9:00am-10:00am	510